About Simon Hertnon

Simon Hertnon studied linguistics at Victoria University of Wellington where he now teaches writing skills through their Professional and Executive Development program. Simon has been writing professionally across a wide range of media and genre since 1990 and today advises businesses about information optimisation. His latest book, From Afterwit to Zemblanity (New Holland, June 2008), is about 'valuable' rare words.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITY > Nakedize wishes to help address the issue of poor written communication skills by providing copies of Clear > Concise > Compelling to every tertiary student in New Zealand. We are looking for sponsors to assist us with this goal. For more information about this initiative, please send your details to info@nakedize.com.
